Widgets

A widget is an application that displays the featured content directly on your Web page. Once you've added the widget to your Web site, there's no maintenance. When CDC.gov updates content, your site will be updated automatically. You will have up-to-date, credible health information on your Web page.

You can easily add a CDC widget to your Web page. Use CDC widgets to keep your students, faculty, and staff informed about flu. When they click on the widget, your Web page displays the featured, up-to-date content.

CDC's flu widgets are available at www.cdc.gov/widgets. For more CDC social media tools, go to: www.cdc.gov/socialmedia/h1n1.
