THE NOTIFIABLE DISEASES

PREVALENCE DURING 1924 IN STATES

The tables which appear on the following pages have been compiled from data furnished by the health officers of the several States, the District of Columbia, and insular possessions. The data for syphilis and gonorrhoea were furnished by the Division of Venereal Diseases of the Public Health Service.

The following is a list of the diseases included:

|---------------------------|-----------------------------------------|
| Anthrax. | Poliomyelitis. |
| Cerebrospinal meningitis. | Rabies in animals. |
| Chicken pox. | Rabies in man. |
| Dengue. | Rocky Mountain spotted fever. |
| Diphtheria. | Scarlet fever. |
| Gonorrhoea. | Septic sore throat. |
| Influenza. | Smallpox. |
| Malaria. | Syphilis. |
| Measles. | Tuberculosis (all forms and pulmonary). |
| Mumps. | Typhoid fever. |
| Pellagra. | Typhus fever. |
| Pneumonia (all forms). | Whooping cough. |

The following table shows the States (including the District of Columbia and insular possessions) for which morbidity and mortality data were received:

¹ Data not given by months.

For the purpose of comparison with States, the data for New York City are given in a separate table.

The populations given in the tables and used in computing case and death rates were estimated as of July 1, 1924, unless otherwise indicated.

For most of the diseases four tables are given: (1) Estimated expectancy, or average, (2) morbidity, (3) mortality, (4) rates.

The estimated expectancy, given in the tables for some of the diseases, is the result of an attempt to ascertain from the experience of recent years how many cases of the disease under consideration might be expected in 1924. In most instances the estimated expectancy is the median number of cases reported by the State for the years 1917 to 1923, inclusive. When several epidemics have occurred during these years, or when for other reasons the median is not satisfactory, epidemic years are excluded, and the estimated expectancy is the mean of the number of cases reported for the non-epidemic years. The aim has been to ascertain how many cases of each disease may reasonably be expected in the absence of epidemics.

The column headed "Number of years" shows the number of years for which data are available for each State.

In comparing the figures for 1924 with the estimated expectancy or with the average for preceding years, it should be borne in mind that there has been a gradual improvement in the reporting of communicable diseases during the last few years. An increase in the number of cases reported may be due to better reporting of the particular disease rather than to an increase in the number of cases existing.

A relatively large number of reported cases of a communicable disease, as indicated by a high case rate (and more especially when accompanied by a relatively small number of deaths, as indicated by a low fatality rate), usually means that the health department of that State is active and that the cases of the disease are being well reported by the practicing physicians. It does not necessarily mean that the disease is more prevalent in that State than in other States. A high fatality rate may mean that the disease was unusually virulent in a State, that the physicians did not treat the disease in that State with the success usual elsewhere, or that the practicing physicians did not report all of their cases. On the other hand, an unusually low fatality rate may be due to the fact that the disease in the State was unusually mild, that the physicians treated it with unusual success, that the practicing physicians reported their cases satisfactorily, or that the registration of deaths was incomplete, or the assignment of the causes of death inaccurate.

In some instances comparatively large numbers of cases of diseases reported in certain States may be due to the system of reporting rather than to unusual prevalence of the diseases. For instance, in Mississippi, physicians report some diseases monthly to the State health officer, giving the number of cases occurring in their practice during the month. This method of reporting probably is responsible, in part, at least, for the comparatively large number of cases of certain diseases reported in Mississippi.

Tabulations of reported cases and deaths from communicable diseases, similar to the tables here presented, have been issued by the United States Public Health Service for the years 1912 to 1923, inclusive (reprints numbered 163, 208, 298, 345, 426, 505, 551, 643, 681, 791, 879, and 974).

GENERAL CURRENT SUMMARY AND WEEKLY REPORTS FROM CITIES

Diphtheria.—For the week ended November 28, 1925, 37 States reported 1,660 cases of diphtheria. For the week ended November 29, 1924, the same States reported 1,978 cases of this disease. One hundred and two cities, situated in all parts of the country and having an aggregate population of about 29,000,000 reported 886 cases of diphtheria for the week ended November 28, 1925. Last year for the corresponding week they reported 965 cases. The estimated expectancy for these cities was 1,469 cases. The estimated expectancy is based on the experience of the last nine years, excluding epidemics.

Measles.—Thirty-four States reported 2,580 cases of measles for the week ended November 28, 1925, and 848 cases of this disease for the week ended November 29, 1924. One hundred and two cities reported 1,179 cases of measles for the week this year, and 325 cases last year.

Poliomyelitis.—The health officers of 38 States reported 38 cases of poliomyelitis for the week ended November 28, 1925. The same States reported 83 cases for the week ended November 29, 1924.

Scarlet fever.—Scarlet fever was reported for the week as follows: Thirty-seven States—this year, 2,837 cases; last year, 2,997 cases. One hundred and two cities—this year, 1,135 cases; last year, 1,279 cases; estimated expectancy, 939 cases.

Smallpox.—For the week ended November 28, 1925, 37 States reported 467 cases of smallpox. Last year for the corresponding week they reported 614 cases. One hundred and two cities reported smallpox for the week as follows: 1925, 89 cases; 1924, 213 cases; estimated expectancy, 42 cases. One death from smallpox was reported by these cities for the week—at Los Angeles, Calif.

Typhoid fever.—Four hundred and ninety-five cases of typhoid fever were reported for the week ended November 28, 1925, by 36 States. For the corresponding week of 1924, the same States reported 454 cases of this disease. One hundred and two cities reported 76 cases of typhoid fever for the week this year and 161 cases for the corresponding week last year. The estimated expectancy for these cities was 99 cases.

Influenza and pneumonia.—Deaths from influenza and pneumonia were reported for the week by 95 cities, with a population of more than 28,000,000, as follows: 1925, 754 deaths; 1924, 752.

City reports for week ended November 28, 1925

The "estimated expectancy" given for diphtheria, poliomyelitis, scarlet fever, smallpox, and typhoid fever is the result of an attempt to ascertain from previous occurrence how many cases of the disease under consideration may be expected to occur during a certain week in the absence of epidemics. It is based on reports to the Public Health Service during the past nine years. It is in most instances the median number of cases reported in the corresponding week of the preceding years. When the reports include several epidemics or when for other reasons the median is unsatisfactory, the epidemic periods are excluded and the estimated expectancy is the mean number of cases reported for the week during nonepidemic years.

If reports have not been received for the full nine years, data are used for as many years as possible, but no year earlier than 1915 is included. In obtaining the estimated expectancy, the figures are smoothed when necessary to avoid abrupt deviations from the usual trend. For some of the diseases given in the table the available data were not sufficient to make it practicable to compute the estimated expectancy.

The following table gives the rates per 100,000 population for 103 cities for the 10-week period ended November 28, 1925. The population figures used in computing the rates were estimated as of July 1, 1923, as this is the latest date for which estimates are available. The 103 cities reporting cases had an estimated aggregate population of nearly 29,000,000, and the 96 cities reporting deaths had more than 28,000,000 population. The number of cities included in each group and the aggregate populations are shown in a separate table below:
