FIGURE I. Selected notifiable disease reports, United States, comparison of provisional 4-week totals April 6, 2019, with historical data

The figure above is a bar chart showing selected notifiable disease reports for the United States with comparison of provisional 4-week totals through April 6, 2019, with historical data. Reports of acute hepatitis A, measles and meningococcal disease increased with acute hepatitis A and measles increasing beyond historical limits. Reports of giardiasis, acute hepatitis B, acute hepatitis C, legionellosis, mumps and pertussis decreased.

Notes:

- These are weekly cases of selected infectious national notifiable diseases, from the National Notifiable Diseases Surveillance System (NNDSS). NNDSS data reported by the 50 states, New York City, the District of Columbia, and the U.S. territories are collated and published weekly as numbered tables. Cases reported by state health departments to CDC for weekly publication are subject to ongoing revision of information and delayed reporting. Therefore, numbers listed in later weeks may reflect changes made to these counts as additional information becomes available. Case counts in the tables are presented as published each week. See also Guide to Interpreting Provisional and Finalized NNDSS Data.
- Weekly tables since 1996 are available on CDC WONDER.
